If “NO”, please ask for references either from the breeder or friends before choosing one. Unfortunately, not every veterinarian is a good one. Some have more experience with certain breeds and the problems common with those breeds. A working relationship with your veterinarian can be a lifesaver for your pet.

Are you planning on breeding and/or showing your dog? An honest answer will enable us to help you pick a dog that is best suited for what you want to do with it. _____

If you are planning on breeding and/or showing your dog, have you had any prior experiences with breeding and/or showing? _____

If “YES”, please describe some of your background experiences. If “NO”, please explain why you would like to begin now. _____

A breeder has the right to offer any dog for sale with “Limited Registration”. Dogs sold on “Limited Registrations” may produce puppies, however, that offspring would be INELIGIBLE for registration. A breeder has the right to change a “Limited Registration” by making application to the American Kennel Club for full registration privileges however. ONLY the breeder can make that request. Such limits enable breeders to ensure that only the best dogs are used for breeding purposes. If you are looking strictly for a pet, you MUST be willing to purchase a dog with limited registration. If you think you might like to breed and/or show in the future, it is better to pay a little more for show quality and it’s subsequent guarantees in the beginning.

Are you willing to purchase a dog with a “Limited Registration”? _____

As breeders, our foremost concern is for the dogs. They MUST be going to responsible and loving homes where they will be cherished and cared for. If intended for breeding and/or showing, they MUST meet a minimum standard. Each breed is an individual unto themselves and it becomes the breeder's responsibility to ensure that only the best of the breed is used for showing and breeding purposes. It is also up to the breeder to decide who will and will not make a good owner. Everything you tell us about yourself and your lifestyle helps us to choose a dog that will be right for you. Occasionally, we have to turn someone down because, in our opinion, we just don't feel that they would be the right home for one of our dogs. We are sorry if our approach offends someone, but again, our foremost concern is for the dog.

Please list two (2) references of someone you have known for at least three (3) years. If you have prior dog or animal related references, i.e. veterinarian, breeder, etc., please list them even if you haven't known them for at least three (3) years.
